DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claims 9-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Lee et al.. With respect to claims 9-21, it is clear to see from figures 1-7, Lee et al. teaches an electronic device chassis (30) comprising a bracket (32) for mounting two or more storage devices (20, 22, 24, 25) being oriented in a first plane; a hinge (44) being oriented parallel to the first plane for rotatably connecting the bracket (32) to the chassis (30); and a locking structure (86, 86A) for locking the bracket in a first position. Also, Lee et al. teaches an electronic system (10) comprising; an electronic device chassis (30); a bracket (32) for mounting two or more storage devices (20, 22, 24, 25) being oriented in a first plane; a hinge (44) being oriented parallel to the first plane for rotatably connecting the bracket (32) to the chassis (30) as claimed (see for example figures 1-7). With respect to the hinge structure as claimed, the apparatus of Lee et al. inherently teaches such hinge structure by incorporating US Pat. No. 5,561,893 "Method of Forming a Hinge Structure" (see for example column 4 line 14-20 and US Pat. 5,561,893 issued to the same inventor as the prior art used).

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed 10/17/02 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. With respect to applicant's remarks concerning claims 9-13, the examiner of record believes applicant's claimed invention does not over come the prior art of Lee et al. as stated above. Although the apparatus of Lee et al. teaches an appliance having EMI shielding, that appliance also reads on applicant's claimed invention. Applicant claims an electronic device chassis comprising: a bracket, a hinge, storage devices, a locking structure, and a hinge rod. Applicant also claims an electronic system comprising: a chassis, a bracket, a hinge, storage devices, and a hinge rod. The apparatus of Lee et al. teaches all of the limitations either directly or by incorporation as claimed. With respect to applicant's remarks concerning the term "bracket" the examiner of record is using the definition as stated in the Merriam Webster's Collegiate Dictionary: bracket n 1 : an overhanging member that projects from a structure (as a wall) and is usually designed to support a vertical load or to strengthen an angle. Given this definition, what applicant argues is a two part chassis (a chassis and a subchassis) reads on applicant's chassis and bracket structure.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Please note the hinged bracket structure of Lee et al. (5561893).

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
